About Me

Born in the Greater Binghamton area of Upstate NY, which, has long been known as a hub of innovation and technology, I have always found myself exploring the inner workings of business and technology, earning myself an adolescent reputation for always asking why. After holding a variety of positions in sales and management, I started Broome Handyman & Home Services⁷, leveraging the power of social marketing to drive business. Subsequently, after deciding to continue the pursuit of higher education, I currently find myself enrolled at SUNY Broome, in the Business Administration, A.S. program, while also operating Broome Home Service.
